

Once upon the time, there was a city mouse and a country mouse.

One day, the City Mouse went to the Country Mouse's house.

 : Hello, Country Mouse.

 : Hi, my friend. It is so nice to see you.
Welcome to my house.

 : House? Where is your house?

 : Here, this is my house.
The field is my home.

 : That is funny.

 : Now, let's have lunch.

 : What's for lunch?

 : We will have corn.

 : Corn? I am sorry,
I don't like corn. I can't eat it.

 : Try this.

 : What is it?

 : It is a carrot.

 : A carrot? I am sorry. I don't like carrots either. I can't eat it.

 : Come to my house.

 : Do you have any food?

 : Of course. I have very delicious food.

 : Please come in. This is my house.

 : Wow! It's so big.

Your house is so beautiful.

 : Thank you. This is the study.

 : Wow! It is so nice.

 : Here is the living room and there is the dining room.

 : You are so lucky to live in this beautiful place.

 : Thank you. Let's go to the kitchen.

🐭 : What are these?

👑 : They are cookies. Please try some.

🐭 : What are those?

👑 : They are sausages.

Do you like them?

🐭 : They are so yummy.

(Here comes a dog)

: Woof! Woof!

: Oh, no! A dog!

: Don't worry. It will not come. Let's eat.

(Here comes a cat)

 : Meow-Meow!

 : Oh, no! That is not good. Let's hide.

 : I can smell mice.....

 : Run, run, run. Don't eat any more.

 : Bye , my friend!

Take care of yourself.

 : Good bye, my friend!

 : I am so so scared. I want to go home.

 : Don't be afraid. I am here, you are fine.

 : But your house is so dangerous.

 : But my house is so beautiful, and my food is so delicious.

 : My house is not beautiful.

My food is not delicious.

But my house is quiet and safe.

I like my country home.

